

Code of Ethics and Good Business Practice

All members agree to abide by the KwikChex Code of Ethics and Good Business Practice.

Honesty

This is at the heart of all the principles. Members must demonstrate at all times that their ethos is founded on honesty, including how they represent their organisation, its products and services.

Clarity

Members must ensure that aspects such as terms and conditions, offers, information and all elements that are likely to affect a customer's decision to buy are presented in a manner that makes them easy to find and easy to understand.

Transparency

Members must openly identify the nature of their business or website and provide clear information on ownership, location of the business and the details of how management or owners can be contacted.

Guarantees

Members should strive to provide robust and fair guarantees, encompassing service, products and services - and must abide by those guarantees.

Customer Service & Responsiveness

Members code of conduct and ethos must encompass an undertaking of providing excellent service, including prompt responses to queries and complaints.

Privacy

Members must protect all customer data by agreed and effective practices, safeguarding customers and persons registered on their databases from intrusions, unwanted contacts and fraud. Members must also verify that they are complying with the data protection laws of their country or countries of operation, including registering with the relevant authorities.

Advertising & Promotional Activities

Members must conform to ethical and honest practices, with no intent to deceive or mislead; they must comply with all the relevant laws of their country or countries of operation.

Website

Along with the general practices, members websites must not in any way be damaging to customers and visitors. They must also disclose their policy and practices regarding privacy related aspects such as the use of cookies and similar, web user tracking software and devices.

In addition, higher tiers of membership and reputation may be achieved by members by compliance with relevant trade association conduct and rules - and by the attainment of official accreditation that verifies your principles, ethics and practices. Please enquire for further information.

This document may be revised from time to time by KwikChex. The most recent issue will be available at all times from the KwikChex website: www.kwikchex.com

